2025 Prosit Editor Report

From the Editor of Prosit

The year 2024 was a good year for Prosit. We were able to maintain all issues at our target size of at least 40 pages. The feedback I have been getting is that the content of Prosit is as strong as it has ever been. We have continued to receive articles from first-time and infrequent contributors. This is very positive for Prosit and SCI.

The submission of articles not only increased in 2024, but also in a very timely sequence. This allowed me not to have to hope for enough material and not have to rush to meet deadlines. So far, this has continued into 2025. However, the biggest problem facing the magazine has not changed. We can never have enough articles being submitted. Please help keep the increase in submissions. Our second problem is that I need some help. I need a few people willing to consistently be available to help review some articles. With a few people, this will not be time-consuming.

Subscriptions for Prosit, based on the most recent issue, are 362 printed, 105 eProsit, for a total of 467. Of these, 18 printed and 14 eProsit were for overseas. We have continued to print very few extra copies.

We are still using the same Printing company, and they have been working closely with us and the Post Office to get our publication out on time. One of the delays was not the fault of the Printing Company or the Post Office. Due to last-minute changes requested by an author, I was delayed in getting the issue to the printer. Our costs for publication have slightly increased for two reasons. First, rising labor and materials costs. And second, we have upgraded the quality of the paper we use.

I want to thank Walt Vogdes for all the time he worked with and mentored me on Prosit. I will greatly miss working with him.
