

Stein Collectors International Show and Tell

This page provides a showcase for our members and visitors to show others the steins in their collections. It may be used to show a particularly rare or unusual stein, to share an unusual story about a stein, or simply to brag about your latest acquisition. If you have questions about a stein go to SteinTalk from our home page.

If you have a story to tell, e-mail your photos and text to the Show and Tell Editor. The story can be very short and informal, just pictures and descriptions are all that is required. We will format it for you. The most recent contribution will be added to the top of this page.
